The information below is in `README.md` inside the repo, but we will briefly touch on how to build the project, and where are the test cases.

You can build the code generation by `make codegen`, and this should produce a binary file named `./codegen.out`. Then we can run it by giving it a file name `./codegen.out <filename>`. All of the test cases from Dr. Aycock's reference compiler folder is located at `./testFiles/finalReferenceTests`.
